The Teen Guide to Smart Birth Control

Illustrations:
- A comic strip with a conversation about birth control:
  - Hand: "Broke. The condom.
  - Hand: "Anything. We didn’t use.
  - Hand: "I just once.
  - Hand: "I only did.

Questions:
- Doesn’t birth control have bad side effects?
  - Many forms of birth control have no side effects. Just because a friend had side effects doesn’t mean that you will. Also, keep in mind, any side effects you may have will not make you as sick as pregnancy can.
- Will everyone know if I’m on birth control?
  - With methods like the implant and the IUD, you are the only one who has to know they are there.
LOW MAINTENANCE METHODS

The implant is a tiny, flexible plastic rod about the size of a matchstick. The implant is placed under the skin of your upper arm by a health care professional. The health care professional uses a numbing medication on your arm and then inserts the implant. It’s quick and simple. The implant is so small, you’ll barely even know it’s there. The hormone used in the implant keeps your ovaries from releasing eggs and also helps block sperm from reaching your eggs. Best of all, you don’t have to remember to take it every day. Some women may stop having periods completely.

WHAT DO YOU NEED TO KNOW?

• More than 99% effective
• Lasts up to three years
• Can be removed whenever you choose
• Effects are completely reversible when it’s removed
• Simple to use

IMPLANT

DOES IT HAVE TO GET A BIRTH CONTROL IMPLANT?

Getting an implant inserted doesn’t hurt any more than getting a shot and it is a lot less painful than childbirth.

WHAT DO YOU NEED TO KNOW?

• More than 99% effective
• Non-hormonal IUD lasts up to 10 years
• IUDs can be removed whenever you choose
• Completely reversible when it’s removed

IUD

ARE IUDS DANGEROUS?

IUDs are actually safer than using birth control pills and recommended for teens—even teens who have never had a baby.

IMPLANT

WHAT DO YOU NEED TO KNOW?

• More than 99% effective
• Hormonal IUD lasts up to 3 or 5 years depending on the type
• Non-hormonal IUD lasts up to 10 years

TRUST YOUR MEMORY METHODS

You’re in control, so you need to BE in control. These birth control methods work great when you remember to take them correctly.

BIRTH CONTROL SHOT

Just like it sounds, the birth control shot is a shot given to you in your upper arm by a health care professional every three months. The shot keeps your ovaries from releasing eggs and also helps block sperm from reaching your eggs. Periods can be lighter and less painful. The shot works when you get it on time. If you miss a shot, you can get pregnant.

WHAT DO YOU NEED TO KNOW?

• More than 94% effective
• Each shot lasts for 3 months
• Must get a shot from a health care professional every 3 months

BIRTH CONTROL PILLS

The patch is a thin, bendable piece of plastic that looks a bandage. The patch keeps your ovaries from releasing eggs and also helps block sperm from reaching your eggs. Periods can be lighter and less painful. The patch works when you get it on time. If you forget to put it on, you can get pregnant.

WHAT DO YOU NEED TO KNOW?

• More than 91% effective
• Must be replaced every three weeks
• Available by prescription only

VAGINAL RING

The vaginal ring is a small, flexible ring you put into your vagina. The ring keeps your ovaries from releasing eggs and also helps block sperm from reaching your eggs. It’s simple to use. You put the ring into your vagina, similar to inserting a tampon. You leave the ring in for three weeks and take it out the fourth week to get your period. After a week with no ring, you insert a new ring to start the cycle again. Periods can be lighter and less painful and the ring can improve acne.

WHAT DO YOU NEED TO KNOW?

• More than 91% effective
• Must be removed every three weeks
• Available by prescription only

CONDOMS

Condoms protect yourself from STIs.

WHAT DO YOU NEED TO KNOW?

• Condoms are 82% effective at preventing pregnancy
• Available over the counter at most drug stores and free at some health departments and clinics
• Condoms should ALWAYS be worn during ALL sexual contact

EMERGENCY BIRTH CONTROL

If you forget to use birth control or had a birth control failure like a broken condom, emergency birth control can keep you from getting pregnant. Emergency birth control comes in the form of pills (available with prescription or without prescription at the pharmacy) or a non-hormonal IUD (inserted by your health care professional). Emergency birth control can be used up to five days after unprotected sex. Emergency birth control stops you from getting pregnant in the first place and should not be confused with the “abortion pill”—they are not the same thing.

WHAT DO YOU NEED TO KNOW?

• Works up to five days after unprotected sex
• Should not be used as a regular form of birth control
• You can choose pills or a non-hormonal IUD

WHAT DO YOU NEED TO KNOW?

• Not people think I’m easy if I’m on birth control?

NON-PEOPLE THINK I’M EASY IF I’M ON BIRTH CONTROL?

No, being on birth control means you’re smart and planning for your future. There are lots of reasons to go on birth control, like irregular periods. Your reason is your business.

BIRTH CONTROL SHOT

WILL THE SHOT MAKE ME GAIN WEIGHT?

Most teens do not gain weight when using the birth control shot. Eating right and exercising keeps you in a healthy body.

BIRTH CONTROL PILLS

IS THE PILL THE SAFEST FORM OF BIRTH CONTROL?

Many forms of birth control are safer than the pill. Talk to a health care professional to find the one that’s best for you.

EMERGENCY BIRTH CONTROL

IF I USE BIRTH CONTROL NOW, WILL I HAVE TROUBLE HAVING A BABY ONE DAY?

Birth control only works while you are using it. So, all the birth control methods listed here are reversible.

EMERGENCY BIRTH CONTROL

DO I STILL NEED TO USE CONDOMS IF I’M ON BIRTH CONTROL?

Yes! Only condoms protect you from STIs. You always need to use a condom for oral and vaginal sex. THE WHOLE TIME. EVERY TIME.

EMERGENCY BIRTH CONTROL

SHOULD I still need to use condoms if I’m on birth control?

Condoms must be used every time you have sex, oral and vaginal sex. Condoms are the only way to protect you from STIs. Even when you use birth control, you always need to use a condom. Condoms must be used every time you have sex—either on the upper arm, shoulder, upper back, abdomen, hip or buttck. Each patch lasts for one week. After one week you take off the old one and put a new patch on a different spot on your body. You do this one time each week for three weeks. On the fourth week you do not wear a patch and you get your period. Periods can be lighter and less painful and the patch can improve acne. You can wear the patch while showering, bathing, swimming and exercising.
